Epidemiological, therapeutic, and pathogenic considerations in mastitis must be made on the basis of subtypes of mastitis. Current antibiotics have limited clinical use because of side effects. Earlier the break-down of the natural immune mechanisms leads to a predisposition to mastitis in a susceptible animal, eventually resulting in a more severe and prolonged infection. There is a continuing need for safe and effective mastitis therapeutics. A LED light emitting device generally includes a substrate and a light emitting diode (LED) that may be mounted onto the substrate. The substrate generally includes a reflective coating disposed thereon. The coating, in addition to reflecting light emitted by the LED, also heats the LED, which may alter the color, stability, and life span of the LED. For example, heat from the LED causes the substrate to expand and contract, which results in a change in the mounting of the LED on the substrate. Moreover, the substrate can have lead wire contacts to apply a forward voltage to the LED. The lead wire contacts are susceptible to damage due to the coefficient of thermal expansion of the substrate and expansion and contraction of the substrate due to heating of the LED. In addition, the substrate is generally made of aluminum or an aluminum alloy, which may be susceptible to corrosion due to exposure to ambient air. The LED, which generally includes a reflective cup and a semi-transmissive LED structure disposed within the reflective cup, is also susceptible to cracking due to material property differences between the LED structure and reflective cup or due to mechanical stress applied to the LED. Therefore, a need exists for an LED light fixture that protects the LED and the LED/substrate interface. In addition, it may be desirable for the LED

□□□, □□□ and Eiji Kawashima have all been added to the Ultimate Team. MLS This year, the league changes are significant. It's the first season ever where players earned their way into the roster. For a year now, teams have had a Head Coach (who has the final say) and a Technical Director (who's in charge of the tactical and technical aspects). Now, a Technical Director is replaced by a Player Scouting Director who helps determine who comes in, and makes a final decision on which players are brought in. There is more work for the scouting director, as they have a new Lead Scout, Assistant Scout, and New User Finder. Also, Reserves have increased from 3 to 6. The biggest change to the league is the way that Games are won and lost. The playoff system is now two rounds, with the 8 teams from each conference playing an extra Game to make up the 11 game total. In other words, if a team beats a team 7-0 in a 10 game regular season, they are guaranteed to finish with the same record as the team they beat. It's winnable, but just, and it makes the games between teams a little less of a toss-up than before. This change also means that the playoff series is a single elimination tournament, meaning that no games are "over" until the championship game is played. Conference winners are in. The top 4 teams are guaranteed to play for the title. Conferences are set as follows: West - San Jose Earthquakes, Real Salt Lake, Sporting Kansas City, Colorado Rapids East - New York Red Bulls, Montreal Impact, Toronto FC, New England Revolution Midwest - LA Galaxy, Chicago Fire, Philadelphia Union, Houston Dynamo Others - Seattle Sounders, Portland Timbers, FC Dallas, Vancouver Whitecaps This means that Chicago and Houston still play in the East division, and DC United play in the East/Midwest division. And that's it for the league changes. THIRD DIVISION Player Expansion - Available in this division are Dwayne de Rosario, Ryan Johnson, Chris Wingert, and Danny Hoesen. These players can be purchased in the 'Elite Player Exchange' section of the Store and are not available for trade. Manager Expansion - This season
